Without effective communication, all other leadership skills do not matter.

When leaders communicate effectively, their employees stay informed, participate, and add value.

This module provides the knowledge first-line and mid-level managers need to drive more effective one-to-one business communication with employees and colleagues.

The module focuses on the Communication Cycle and the behaviours and skills required for sending and receiving clear messages.

Key Learnings Are...

- ✓ Apply a simple model for effective business communication
- ✓ Methodically prepare and deliver messages that will achieve their purpose
- ✓ Listen more effectively and acknowledge others' messages
